Reflection

metaphor for thinking about systems with changing cortracts day-to-day discourse is governed by contract, and is about the delivery of widgets